Activity/Event Description

The BC School of Log Building offers comprehensive, quality and hands on log and timber building instruction in a range of one to six week course options. Learn the skills necessary to build your own log home or timber frame, or to become employed in the exciting log and timber industry. We teach timber framing, dovetail log building, and full scribe saddle notch log building techniques while surrounded in the Rocky Mountains near Golden BC.

Our classes take place in an outdoor classroom setting beginning at 9am and running until 5pm daily. Food and lodging vary according to your preferences from nearby camping to a multitude of bed and breakfast, motel and hotel options all in close proximity to our log yard.

Covid-19 protocols are followed in the large outdoor classroom and with small class sizes, averaging 10 students. Tool rental packages are available and complete tool lists can be found on our website with each course.
